COPPERING VESSELS

How the Bottoms of Wooden Ships Are Protected.

[Boston Herald.]

Few persons, aside from those peculiarly interested, and the men who go down to the sea in ships, know the method by which the bottoms of wooden vessels are protected from the insects and worms which, if left alone in warm climates, would soon completely honey comb the timbers and the barnacles which accumulate so quickly on bare or painted plank, as in a short time to seriously impede the speed of a craft. The process by which these pests of navigation are thwarted consists of covering the vessel's bottom up to the water line, with thin sheets of copper, and is called "coppering." It is a very important process—much more so than any one who has not studied the matter can conceive. It is also a costly process since, to obtain lasting results, the material must be of excellent quality, and copper is by no means cheap. The durability of this metallic skin on a vessel varies a great deal. In certain seas it yields to the corrosive action of the chemicals held in solution much more quickly than in others, and where there is by chance a combination of metals, the water establishes a galvanic action which is very destructive. Only a few days ago Rear Admiral Crosby [commanding the United States fleet on the South Atlantic station, telegraphed the navy department that the flag-ship Brooklyn, docked at Rio de Janeiro for repairs, must be recoppered, as many of the sheets were entirely destroyed by corrosion, and that the cost would be about $20 000. In view of the fact that the Brooklyn was newly coppered less than a year ago, prior to sailing for the station above mentioned, the state of their metal seems remarkable, to say the least.

THE PROCESS OF COPPERING

In the first place, a vessel, to be coppered or recoppered, must be lifted bodily out of the water, either on a marine railway, upon which it is hauled by steam power in a cradle running on rales inclining up to the shore, or in a dock, from which the water is pumped and kept out by solid gates. The operation is one requiring great care, as an accident might have serious consequences. From the moment the craft is started until she lies high and dry the scene is one of both excitement and interest. All parties, from the "boss" to the commonest laboring man, must be thoroughly conversant with the duties of their stations and every movement must be made at its proper time and place, or else everything goes wrong, and a misplaced spur, block or shore may cause the huge hull to overturn and wreck destruction upon its cradle, besides inflicting more serious damage on itself than that which originally caused its cradling. The utmost care therefore is necessary, and, when at last the vessel is removed from its natural element and suspended in air, the gazer is filled with emotions of wonderment and admiration as he beholds its colossal proportions and is puzzled to conceive how puny man has succeeded in lifting it from its briny couch. When fairly clear of the water crowds of men, who, compared with the giant on whom they are at work, resemble pigmies, attack her sides and commence stripping from them the remnants of the old copper. This, together with the nails, is carefully preserved, as even in its most dilapidated condition its intrinsic value is considerable. The next branch of the work is to remove the felting that may remain after the copper has been taken off, and then the gravers commence the task of "raising the seams"—that is, opening the interstices or joints of the planks, and removing the old loose oakum. The vessel is then thoroughly caulked, that operation consisting of forcing tarred oakum, with a hammer and wedge shaped tool, known as a "caulking iron," into the seams between the planks, rendering the joints impervious to water. The seams are then "payed," or coated over with melted pitch or rosin, and after a thorough scraping to render the surface smooth and even, the felt is put on. When matters have so far progressed that the "caulkers and gravers exchange their tools for the hammers and nail pouches requisite for securing the metallic sheets to the vessel's bottom. The copper comes in sheets 48x14 inches, ranging in weight from 5½ to 8½ pounds per sheet. The average metal used on merchant ships is what is known to the trade as 18, 20 and 22 ounce, while that put on the heavier vessels averages about 28 ounces, and sometimes on naval vessels it runs as heavy as 32 to 34 ounces. The work of putting on these sheets is what may well be classed as skilled labor, for it requires a thorough knowledge of the business, and the strictest attention must be given to the "lapping" of the sheets as regards the action of the waves. The laps, which, in coppering done in this port do not exceed one-half to three-quarters of an inch, must be so arranged that on the bottom the upward pressure of the water cannot force it under the copper and endanger the ripping off of the entire sheet and loosening the ends of the companions to such an extent that they must soon follow their predecessors on the bows.

THE SHEETS HAVE TO BE ARRANGED

in their laps so that the action of the ship, in forcing her way through the water, shall not start the metal from its place. The copper is fastened to the planks by yellow-metal nails 1½ inches long. These are driven about 1½ or 1¾ inches apart in well regulated Boston yards, but in other places, some workmen allow 3 inches between nailings. Such distance as this is considered unsafe in this port. In some places too, it is said, composition nails are used, which, owing to their brittleness, are liable to lose their heads, and consequently their holding power. About nine pounds of nails are used to a sheet of copper. The comparative weight of copper per sheet is as follows: 18 oz., 5.34 lbs., 20 oz., 5.83 lbs.; 22 oz., 6.42 lbs.; 24 oz., 7 lbs. 26 oz., 7.68 lbs., 28 oz., 8.56 lbs. Thirty-two ounce copper weighs nearly nine pounds. Pure copper is worth 80 cents per pound, and American yellow metal costs 20 cents per pound in Boston. The average cost in this port for coppering a 2000 ton ship, (the Brooklyn's measurement is about that) would be for stock and labor about $9,600, of which $8,100 would go for stock, and $1,500 for the stripping, cleaning and laying. A ship of this size would require nearly 3,000 sheets of copper and about 27,000 pounds of nails. The old copper and nails would probably amount to 15,000 or 20 000 pounds, and would readily sell for 18 to 20 cents per pound.

In France, England, Italy and Wales the work is done considerably cheaper, but the quality of stock, and the manner in which it is put on are inferior to the work done in Boston and New York. In some of the eastern ports, those on the Penobscot river especially, cheaper rates prevail, because the working hours per day exceed those here, and the expenses of docks and railways are, in some instances, avoided by the ship's being handled in the primitive style of "heaving down." A 1000 ton vessel can be easily coppered in from two to two and a half days, and the job furnishes employment for from 75 to 85 men and boys. A vessel properly metalled will run from three to six or seven years without any extensive repairs, allowing of course, that no serious accident, such as getting aground, contact with ice, or something similar, occurs to injure her copper. As to its wear and destruction by corrosion much depends naturally upon the waters in which she may cruise. In the West Indies, parts of the South American coast and other countries whose waters are more destructive to copper than in the colder climate, the metal cannot last so long, but, even in those localities, unprejudiced judges give the length of time it should be serviceable from three to five years, with ordinary usage.

But few large vessels now come here for repairs, one reason probably being that, compared with the time of Boston's mercantile navy's prominence, but few large sailing ships are now sailing to this port, and those which do come are mainly frightened off by the autocratic manner in which the calkers and gravers are said to have been attempting to dictate

PRICES AND HOURS OF LABOR.

As it is, the strike lately inaugurated has driven one ship to Portland to be stripped and calked, after which she will return here to load for San Francisco. Another fine new vessel has lately left here for Liverpool, simply having a coat of copper paint put on her bottom, where she will be metalled. What work is done in this port is now principally confined to coasting vessels and those engaged in the West India trade. One of the principal parties engaged in the business told the writer that in 1860 he did $47,000 worth of work for one firm alone, and now thought it a good year's work if it reached those figures in his combined business. A manager of one of the largest dry docks in New England said it had been six years since a full rigged ship had been docked in his yards, and he expressed the belief that if matters progressed as they have been doing for the past few years, it would be very doubtful whether he should dock another during the next six years.

SIX DAYS IN THE WOODS. A Pottsville (Pa.) despatch says: On the evening of July 8, a ten-year-old son of George Wolfe, a well to-do farmer, residing three miles east of Girard Manor, in the Catawissa valley, wandered from home into the woods, where he was lost for six days. The child's absence was not noticed by the parents for several hours after his disappearance. The child is deaf and dumb and of feeble mind. Wolfe's home being situated in a wild, thinly settled district, there is a high fence surrounding the dwelling to prevent the children from going into the woods. On the date above mentioned the gate was left open, and through it the lost child disappeared. Mrs. Wolfe gave the alarm to her husband, who was working in the field, and together they began the search, which the night's darkness terminated. Their neighbors were summoned to the number of 25, and all started next morning at daybreak, scouring the hills and valleys in vain. The mother became frantic, but no trace of the missing boy could be found until the six days had passed, when 250 people were engaged in the search, climbing rugged mountains and wandering through swamps. The father at last beheld his son sitting on a rock, crying bitterly. He was taken home, five miles distant, and now lies in a precarious condition, the result of long starving and bites and stings of innumerable insects and snakes. The child's body presented a terrible appearance. He appeased his hunger by eating bark from trees, a piece of which he had in his hand when found. His clothing consisted of a night shirt only.

PLAISTED'S APPROVAL OF THE STATE STEAL.

With almost incredible effrontery the Portland Advertiser recently denied that Harris M. Plaisted was in sympathy with the Garcelon Gang in the Counting-Out infamy, and declared that

"General Plaisted advised the Council of 1879 not to allow the result of the election to be changed by any technicalities."

Being pressed upon this point it on Saturday last repeated the assertion, and challenged the production of evidence that he had ever approved the falsification and forgery of the returns. Of course the editor of the Advertiser was well aware of the falsehood of this statement in Plaisted's behalf as the fact of the latter's active sympathy with the State Stealers was a matter of public notoriety in the winter of 1879-80. All newspaper readers remember the flourish with which the special despatches to the Fusionist papers proclaimed that "ex-Attorney General" and "ex-Congressman" H. M. Plaisted was in Augusta and fully sustained the legality of the action of Garcelon and his Council. A reference to contemporary newspapers will also show that the Portland Advertiser itself was much more of an ally than opponent of the State Stealers throughout very critical periods of the struggle with their crime, as its slurs and flings were devoted to the Republicans who were opposing the consummation of the outrage, while its excuses and palliations for Garcelon and his confederates earned for it the commendation of the Bangor Commercial, an unscrupulous champion of the great fraud, which declared the Advertiser the only Republican paper in Maine which had treated the Governor and Council with any sort of respect or even decency."

But it is astonishing that the Portland organ should have the hardihood to publish assert that Plaisted opposed the Garcelon count-out, when the facts are so fresh in the minds of the people. The truth is that Plaisted not only sympathized with the frauds while they were being perpetrated, but he emphatically and explicitly endorsed the whole infamous State Steal after it had been completed and officially proclaimed.

It will be remembered that the issuing of the fraudulent certificates by Governor Garcelon Dec. 17, 1879, whereby the rightful majority of the Legislature was reversed and eight Republican senators and twenty-nine Republican Representatives deliberately and criminally counted out, caused spontaneous indignation meetings in various parts of the State to protest against the monstrous villany. The conspirators became alarmed and deemed it necessary to get up counter-demonstrations and to that end a meeting was held at Temperance Hall, Augusta, Tuesday evening, December 23d, to endorse and sustain Governor Garcelon and his Gang. At the meeting speeches approving the steal were made by Eben F. Pillsbury, George W. Ladd and other Parties at Table of Garcelon, who also appeared in person and was received with tumultuous applause. Resolutions were adopted thanking the Governor and Council for counting out the Republicans out; declaring that there was no power competent to review that action; and threatening the people that any assistance to the consummation of the outrage upon their sacred would be summarily dealt with as treason to the state. Among the messages sent to the meeting approving the forgeries and falsifications of the returns was the following, the fourth signer of which was that of the present Prince Governor of Maine

Bangor, Dec. 23. We, the undersigned, citizens of Bangor, believe that the Governor and Council of this State, in the inspection of the returns and tabulation of the same, which have just been completed, have acted in compliance with the Constitution and the laws, and we will sustain them and the constituted authorities of the State, to any extent and at all hazards

C. L. BOUTELLE, E. SANBORN,
H. M. Plaisted, J. P.
and twenty-three others.

We hope the Commercial will continue to enjoy itself to the top of its bent in ridiculing the accuracy of the protection of the great hay crop of Maine against the products of Scandinavian and other foreign fields. Its sneers about "trying into Congress on a load of hay" are not only silly, but they are aimed at one of the most valuable and important interests that the Congressional representatives of Maine are elected to promote and promote.

The story of Mrs. Lincoln writing, when a young girl, a letter in which she expressed a determination to become the wife of a President, is confirmed by the production of the document, now in the possession of General Preston of Lexington, Ky. It was addressed to a daughter of Governor Wickliffe, and contained a playful description of young Lincoln, to whom she was betrothed. She said: "But I mean to make him President of the United States all the same. You will see that, as I always told you, I will yet be the President's wife."

MR. BLAINE'S SOUTH AMERICAN POLICY.

Fully Endorsed by Minister Trescot.

YORK, Maine, July 17, 1882.

HON. JAMES G. BLAINE:

DEAR SIR:—I am in receipt of yours, asking me, as late Special Envoy of the United States to the belligerents of South America, to state my knowledge of certain matters connected with your administration as Secretary of State.

1. From your formal instructions to me and the personal consultations had with you before my departure on that mission, I have never been able to see that there was any ground for misunderstanding or misconstruing your position in regard to the Credit Industriel. It has been consistent throughout as I understood it.

You always expressed yourself to me as desirous that the Credit Industriel might, if possible, be made useful to Peru in her distress. But you were entirely unwilling that the United States should make the programme of that company a part of their own negotiation or should assume a guarantee of the arrangement which it might make with the Peruvian Government. You did not favor the project of a Protectorate over any port of South America. Your idea was to leave Peru free to negotiate with the Credit Industriel, but you instructed Gen Hurlburt and afterwards myself to report the result of such negotiations to the Department. What action might be beyond was necessarily for the decision of the Government, and its policy would in all probability have depended largely upon the report made by the Minister. As matter of fact, neither Gen. Hurlburt nor myself was ever called upon to take any action in regard to the Credit Industriel during our respective missions in South America.

2. As to your designing a war, that supposition is too absurd for serious consideration. If you had any such purpose it was carefully concealed from me, and I left for South America with the impression that I would have completely failed in my mission if I did not succeed in obtaining an amicable settlement of the differences between the belligerents. You will allow me to add that I would have declined the mission if I had thought otherwise. As I understood you, your object was by the friendly solution of the existing difficulties, to prepare the way for the meeting of the Peace Congress at Washington, when you hoped to establish such relations between the Republics of the two Americas, as would prevent the possibility of future war. But for the strange misconception for which I cannot account, which reached and misled the Chilian Cabinet, though some of the leading and influential papers of the United States, I believe that purpose could have been accomplished under your instructions.

3. In regard to the Cochet and Landreau claims, it is sufficient to say that you rejected the first absolutely. As to the second, you instructed Gen. Hurlbut to ask, if the proper time for such request should come, that Landreau should be heard before a Peruvian tribunal in support of his claim, and that in case of a peace providing for the cession of Peruvian territory, the condition of his claim should be brought to the attention of Chili and Peru. This instruction, as stated in your dispatch, was made in view of the fact that numerous claims of Europeans for fabulous amounts were being pressed and you were anxious, as you expressed it, that the resources of Peru should not be exhausted in the settlement of the claims of foreigners to the prejudice of one belonging to an American citizen. This notification would not have interposed an obstacle to the conclusion of a treaty of peace, but would have simply signified to both parties that its provisions could not put aside any rights which Landreau might be found to possess after an impartial, judicial investigation.

Under the restrictions of your instructions, Gen. Hurlbut, although himself approving the justice of Landreau's claim in his despatch of Sept. 14, 1881, never brought it in any way to the consideration of the Peruvian Government. During my mission in South America, I never referred to it, so that in point of fact, during your secretaryship the Landreau claim was never mentioned either to the Chilian or Peruvian government by the ministers of the United States. It could not therefore have affected the then pending diplomatic questions in the remotest degree.

Yours very truly
and respectfully
WM. HENRY TRESCOT.

NATIONAL EXPENDITURES.

[From the Lewiston Journal.]

Six dollars of taxation for every dollar of debt paid!! Here are the exact official figures: Reduction of interest-bearing debt in seventeen years, $937,719,894; net ordinary receipts into the treasury during the seventeen years, $5,967,587,391.24, or almost six thousand millions of dollars! This is the taxation, this the sacrifice, which the American people have made to pay off one billion of their debt.—Argus

We submit to the Argus that such a statement as the above is not the "whole truth," and must necessarily mislead those of its readers who are not familiar with facts which the Argus conveniently omits to state.

While it is true that only $937,719,894 of the interest bearing debt, or $1,070,767,000 of debt, of $2,755,431,571 as ascertained and adjusted on the 31st of August, 1865, has been paid since that time; yet the Argus can but know that more than double that sum, exclusive of interest, has during the past seventeen years, been paid for expenses and liabilities growing out of the war, in addition to the thousand millions paid for a reduction of the funded debt of 1865. In round numbers $3,300,000,000 has been paid since 1865 to liquidate expenses and liabilities arising from the war, and over $1,700,000,000 for interest on the same, a total payment of over $5,000,000,000 on account of the war during the past seventeen years, or $300,000,000 per annum on the average; while the revenue from all sources, including public lands and miscellaneous items, have been during the same period $6,748,540,814, or about $400,000,000 per annum on the average—leaving about $1,746,540,814, or an average of $100,000,000 per year for ordinary expenses. In other words of every four dollars of the revenue of the nation, three dollars have gone to pay the expenses of putting down the slaveholders' rebellion—a rebellion in which no Republicans participated.

The Argus well knows that the war to save the nation has cost over $6,000,000,000, in addition to about $1,900,000,000 of interest paid up to date. If the Argus is not familiar with the figures, we refer it to the official report of the Secretary of the Treasury made to the Senate, June 10th, 1880. More than $5,000,000,000 of this cost remained unpaid Aug. 31st, 1865, when the adjusted or funded debt of the nation was found to be: $2,756,431,571. Since that time about $2,900,000,000 of liabilities on account of the war, not then ascertained, or not then preferred or accrued, have been adjusted and paid, in addition to $1,070,767,000 of the funded debt, of which some of the items are in round numbers as follows:

Pensions and expenses of settling the same	$350,000,000
Back pay and bounties	105,000,000
Bounding to States, War expenses	42,000,000
Support National Homes for Soldiers	10,000,000
Payment under Special Acts of Relief	1,100,000
National Cemeteries	5,0 0 000
Claims of loyal men in the South for supplies furnished	5,000,000
Payment for property lost in war	9,000,000
Bounties to seamen	3,000,000
Expenses under reconstruction	3,200,000
Cost of collecting war revenue	125,000,0.0
Extra cost of settling accounts and disbursing war revenue	50,0.0,000
Support of Bureau of Refugees and Freedmen	11,500,000
Providing for sick soldiers	3,3.0,000
Artificial limbs for soldiers	1,000,000
Reconstruction and armament of Southern forts	5,000,000
Total expenditures	$810,570,351

In other words, of the revenue of the government, the past year, only $128,630,000 went to pay ordinary peace expenditures, (and even $7,000,000 of this are properly chargeable to the war), and $267,949,301 to pay expenditures necessitated in crushing secession.

Moreover, the expenditures for ordinary purposes, were no more per capita the past year, than they were in the last year of Buchanan's administration. In 1850 the expenses were about $2.25 per inhabitant; the past year four population being about 54,000,000) they were about the same. In other words, notwithstanding government is attending to many public interests, which, in 1850, it paid no attention to—such as forecasting the weather, guarding against the spread of contagious diseases, looking after educational interests, distributing new varieties of seeds to farmers, taking measures to prevent the spread of cattle diseases, etc., etc.—yet the expenditures of the national government, outside of charges put on the nation by war, are no larger, in proportion to the population, than they were before the rebellion.

The Argus says that no other people on earth could have borne such taxation as we have imposed on ours. To be sure our taxation has been large for Americans—thanks to the Southern democracy! but yet it has not been as large as that of any of the leading nations of Europe. Our national taxation the past year was about $7.50 per inhabitant; the taxation imposed by the English government was over $11[illegible] per inhabitant, and that of France $15[illegible]. While the United States, with taxation of $7 50 per inhabitant, has during the past year paid all the expenses of the government, the interest on the debt and $65,000,000 in pensions to her soldiers, and has had a surplus of $151,000,000 to apply to the reduction of the principal of our debt; during the same time England, with taxation of $[illegible] per inhabitant, has paid, besides the expenses of her government, and interest on her debt, only ten millions in pensions and has had a surplus of less than $5,000,000 to apply to the reduction of her debt. The peace expenditures of England, exclusive of interest on debt, are $[illegible] per inhabitant; those of France $11 per inhabitant; those of the United States $2[illegible] or one-third as much as England, and one-fourth as much as France. It was to this striking difference in results, that Gladstone alluded, when in criticising the Beaconsfield administration, he spoke in such terms of admiration of the financial policy of the Republican administrations of the United States, a policy to which history will accord the highest praise.

SECRETARY BLAINE'S POLICY VINDICATED.

The letter which we publish elsewhere, from the veteran diplomatist, Hon. William H. Trescot, late Special Envoy of the U. S. to China and later to the South American States, is one of the most important contributions to the Chili-Peruvian controversy, and furnishes a most valuable and emphatic endorsement of the wisdom of the policy adopted by Mr. Blaine, as Secretary of State.

Mr. Trescot has for many years been a trusted confidential agent of the State Department, and is probably the most experienced and accomplished diplomatist in the country. He has been entrusted with several of the most important special missions by our Government, and was selected by Secretary Blaine, on account of his experience and skill, to undertake the responsible task of representing the views and interests of our Government in relation to the South American States, and especially in regard to the strife between Chili and Peru.

Mr. Trescot's letter effectually disposes of the various spiteful, malicious and silly strictures which have been flung at Secretary Blaine, and he explicitly declares his belief that Mr. Blaine's diplomacy would have been entirely successful had not the Chilian Cabinet been misled by the utterances of American newspapers.

The letter will repay careful perusal and it is interesting as the expression of a most competent judge who sustains Mr. Blaine completely at every point.

Thursday was a bad day for Senator Voorhees of Indiana. He has been incurring the ill-will of his fellow Democrats by his recent tariff declarations and his constant voting to confirm Presidential appointments in return for Executive favors. Thursday he was pitching into the Tax Reduction bill, particularly that portion exempting banks, when his colleague, Gen. Harrison, asked him if he did not remember that Mr. Beck had offered such a bill last year and the Democratic House had adopted it. This threw him off his guard, and Harrison, following up his advantage, Voorhees lost his temper and his head. "Did the Senator ever stand before the people of Indiana on a popular issue?" he hissed out with a sneer. With a stride forward, a stamp of his foot and shake of his outstretched arm, Mr. Harrison retorted in his piercing voice: "Yes, I did. I stood for the flag when treason raised its head in this country, and when it found sympathizers in the Democratic party in Indiana." This was a squelcher for Voorhees, and he sat down to keep his seat until Mr. Harrison had finished.

Mr. Robert R. Hitt, late Assistant Secretary of State, who has just been nominated for Congress in the VIth Illinois District, was Mr. Lincoln's stenographer during the famous Lincoln-Douglas joint debate in 1858. On one occasion, when an enormous crowd had assembled in the open air at Freeport, Ill., and the moment for Mr. Lincoln to begin his speech had arrived, the young stenographer was missing. The future President moved uneasily in his chair on the platform, peered eagerly about the platform and through the crowd, and finally arose. There was a hush of expectancy, but instead of beginning his speech Mr. Lincoln called out: "Where's Hitt? Does anybody know where Hitt is?" In the great astonishment of those who did not understand the dilemma and to the amusement of those who did. Five minutes afterward Hitt arrived breathless and abashed, and the speech began.

Walker Blaine, Esq., late third Assistant Secretary of State, has been appointed Associate Counsel for the United States before the Court of Alabama Claims Commissioners. This is a very fitting and complimentary appointment and will afford Mr. Blaine opportunity to exercise his marked abilities in a new field, although in the line of his profession.

The Boston Journal says: That Independent movement in Maine turns out to be the litlest thing ever offered for a cent. Already two of the gentlemen whose names were given as being present, Messrs. Harmon and Chase, deny participation, reminding one of the ditty:

"Five little Indians rolling on the floor,
One rolled off and then there were four."

Silver Lake Hotel,

KATAHDIN IRON WORKS.

This well known resort of the sportsman, invalid and tourist, is now open for the season. During the Spring the house has been greatly enlarged, thoroughly renited and has been placed under the management of H. E Capen, formerly of the Kineo House.

Good table, plenty of fish and game, best of clean beds, and constant attention to the wants and comfort of guests can be relied upon.

The most reliable physicians in the State unite in stating that this is the healthiest resort in Maine. The wonderful tonic of the "Katahdin" mineral spring waters, constantly on draught at the hotel, and the pure dry air of the forests and mountains, invigorate the debilitated, while the beautiful mountain ponds and the rapid streams invite and reward the sportsmen. Best of fishing, boating and gunning facilities. Saddle and carriage horses and buckboards to be had at all times.

The Bangor & Katahdin Iron Works Railway, now running to Brownville, will be completed to the Iron Works early in September. Until that time, on one day's notice by mail, special teams will be at Brownville on arrival of morning train from Bangor, and take passengers through in time for dinner. Articles of Association

In accordance with the provisions of the Revised Statutes of the State of Maine, chapter 46, sections 18, 19 and 20, and chapter 85 of the Public Laws of said State of the year 1876, and Statutes amendatory thereof and additional thereto, we, the undersigned, have associated ourselves, and opposite our respective signatures, hereby associate ourselves together by these written articles of agreement, for the purpose of organizing a corporation for the following named purposes, viz:

1st. Purchasing, owning, controlling and selling the following property, viz.: The Veazie estate in Oldtown, Penobscot county, being the same [illegible] described in a certain bond dated April 20th, 1882, given by Charles V. Lord and others to [illegible] Maling, and by said Maling assigned to the Milford Land and Lumber Company.

Also all the real estate and interest in real estate, including mills, mill privileges and water rights which the Milford Land and Lumber Company owns within the following limits, to wit: Beginning at the northerly line of said company's land on the Penobscot river in the town of Milford; thence easterly along said northerly line half a mile; thence southerly by a line to or following the general course and trend of said river about two and one-half miles in length, to a point from the east bank of said river about one half mile to the easterly line of said Milford land in said Milford, thence westerly on said line one half mile to said river, thence northerly along said river to the point of beginning. Also, any other real estate, real estate, including mills, mill privileges and water rights, dams, flowage and canals in said State, and personal property which may be deemed necessary, useful or convenient for the business of said corporation.

2d. Erecting dams, cutting canals, using, leasing and selling water power and water rights.

3d. Building mills and factories, and leasing the same, and manufacturing wood, iron, steel, cotton, wool, paper and other things.

4th. With power and right not only to use and lease, but to mortgage, sell and convey any or all their property, and property rights, and do what ever things may be necessary, useful or convenient in the business aforesaid.

Which said corporation shall be located at Bangor, in the county of Penobscot, in said State of Maine, and shall have its office at Bangor, Oldtown and Milford.

The first meeting shall be held in accordance with section 19 of said chapter 46, Revised Statutes at the office of Chas. Hamlin, room No. 3, Barker's Block, West Market Square, in Bangor, in said county of Penobscot, on the 9th day of August, A. D. 1882, at 10 o'clock, A.M.

Dated this 11th day of July, A. D. 1882, at Bangor.

THE WAR IN EGYPT

Arabi Raids Ramleh.

CLAIMED THAT ENGLAND WILL NEED 40,000 MEN

TO AVOID A BULL RUN.

A Volunteer Regiment Preparing to Attack Alexandria.

Raid on Ramleh.

ALEXANDRIA, July 24. Saturday night, 500 of Arabi's cavalry, with one gun, raided through Ramleh and rode between the English outposts. They came boldly to the water works and then retired. At five this morning 500 Nubians with eight gunmarched to Aboukir under Abdallah Pasha and began to construct earth works. Arabi now has 200 guns mounted on earthworks between Manolia and Kafr El Dewar. Stone Pasha has assured me that unless England acts with at least 40,000 troops she will meet with a Bull Run. There is no doubt that had 5,000 men landed immediately after the bombardment, the barricading and looting would have been prevented. The electric light was established in the forts Saturday night. It illuminated the country outside for many miles, sweeping round with striking effect; it did not, however, prevent Arabi's cavalry from seizing 103 bullocks destined for the British. Incendiarism continues.

An Estimate of the Egyptian Forces.

LONDON, July 24. The Times' Alexandria correspondent appears tolerably certain that Arabi's force is composed of 8000 men, 33 field pieces, 6 Gatling guns and an unknown number of smoothbores taken hence and placed on the earthworks of his position.

The News' Port Said correspondent says: De Lesseps arrived here, Saturday, accompanied by an aide de camp of the Khedive. Seventeen war vessels of different nationalities are in the harbor, five English, under Rear Admiral Hoskins, and five French under Admiral Conrad; the latter has consented to assist the English in keeping order in town and protecting the lives and property of Europeans. In event of an outbreak the French are preparing to land 600 men, the English 400. Rear Admiral Hoskins has sent a message through the Governor to the commander of the troops saying that he will hold him responsible for any disturbance, and that if he cannot keep order, the Admiral will. The commander is said to have declined to take the responsibility unless he is allowed to bring more troops from Demietta.

Arabi Writes to Gladstone.

Arabi wrote the following to Gladstone a few days before the bombardment, but Gladstone did not receive it until after the bombardment.

"The Koran commands us to resist if the war is waged against us. Hence, England may rest assured that the first gun she fires in Egypt will absolve Egyptians from all treaties. Her control will cease. The property of Europeans will be confiscated, canals will be destroyed and the Jehad be preached in Syria, Arabia and India. The first blow with which England strikes Egypt will cause blood to flow through the breadth of Asia and Africa, the responsibility for which will be on England. Egypt is still ready to be fast friends with England and keep her road to India, but she must keep within the limits of her jurisdiction. Finally, England may rest assured that we are determined to die for our country."

Skirmishing in Progress.

ALEXANDRIA, July 24. The Sixteenth marched to occupy Ramleh this morning. Some skirmishing is now proceeding, but no details have been received. The 35th Infantry are ordered to support the Sixtieth. The bulk of Arabi's infantry is reported to be concentrated at Demietta, the troops at Kafr El Dewar being chiefly artillery and cavalry. The inspector of the Cadastral survey has arrived from the interior. He reports the total force of the rebels nearly a hundred thousand; he says that a volunteer cavalry regiment is forming to attack Alexandria. Arabi's front fell back last evening to the other side of Ramleh, thus forcing the above mentioned operations on the British.

Mr. Crowther, one of the two English Engineers, who were reported to have been massacred at Tantuhah, has arrived here. The commander of the fort at Aboukir, though flying a flag of truce, has refused to allow any Englishmen to enter the fort. He is probably really holding the fort in the interest of Arabi. The British force acting against Elsmeik includes 600 sailors. Arabi occupies an extended line from Mareotes to St. Clair. The first skirmish lasted an hour; one or two of the English were hit, several Egyptians were seen to fall. Arabi is again advancing.

The French Position.

PARIS, July 24. De Freycent's conference with the committee of the Senate on the naval credit, declared that if the powers, indirectly interested in Egypt, remained neutral in regard to intervention of other powers in Egypt, France would leave England to act alone and would confine herself to the protection of the Suez Canal. This decision seems to be due to the refusal of Gen. Bellot, Minister of War, to undertake operations in Egypt unless he had 40,000 men, which would require calling out of a portion of the reserves and the government refused to sanction such action. It is announced that the French government, at present will send only 6000 marines for the protection of the Suez Canal.

The Royal Europa.

ALEXANDRIA, July 24. The rebels are distributed as follows: One division outside of Cairo, two regiments in Cairo, two divisions at Kafre El Dwar, 3000 infantry at Rosetta, and 7000 at Demietta. Each division consists of four regiments of infantry, 740 men each, two regiments of cavalry, 800 men each, one regiment of artillery, 700 men and 36 guns. Four thousand civilians were taken from necessary works on the Nile, to entrench Kafre El Dwar. Arabi Pasha holds a battalion and battery of two squadrons in readiness to check any British advance. Parties of the British brought 60 prisoners from Ramleh today. The occupying force is entrenched at Ramleh.

A Turkish corvette has arrived here. The British cut the Turkish telegraph wire to Stamboul.

FROM WASHINGTON.

General News.

The Newell Hearing Postponed.

WASHINGTON, July 24. The House Judiciary Committee to-day rescinded the action whereby a hearing was to have been given J. J. P. Newell to-morrow, in connection with the Texas Pacific land grant bill and postponed the hearing indefinitely. The members of the Committee say that during the consideration of the bill if it becomes advisable Newell will be called upon for any information in his possession.

NEW YORK.

Will the Authorities Permit it?

NEW YORK, July 24. Another sparring match has been arranged for August 14th at Madison Square Garden between Sullivan and Wilson on the same terms as the last.

BOILER EXPLOSION.

Two Hundred Hands Supposed to be Lost.

LONDON, July 24. A News despatch says it is reported that the Russian steamer Moskow was sunk by a boiler explosion with 200 hands.

FORTY-SEVENTH CONGERSS—First Session

Senate.

WASHINGTON, July 24. On motion of Mr. Voorhees, after an explanation by Mr. Hoar of the Senate bill to refund to the estate of John W. Forney $27,694 paid by him when Secretary of the Senate to cover a defalcation in his office, was passed. Mr. Allison presented a conference report on the Legislative Appropriation bill and explained that the only disagreements were upon the sixth section for the transfer of the records of the Surgeon General's office and a distribution of the rooms of the new State, War and Navy building, between the different Departments. Some discussion followed.

On motion of Mr. Morrill the revenue bill was taken up, the pending amendments being to reduce the tobacco tax to 8 cents per pound.

After some debate the amendment was voted down. The question next recurred on the committee amendment of the tobacco section striking out the clause allowing a rebate to the amount of reduction on all stocks on hand at the time the law takes effect. After debate the amendment allowing a rebate on all unbroken packages of tobacco, snuff, and cigars at the time when the law shall go into effect, was adopted.

The 5th section in relation to sugar duties was read and Mr. Hale moved to strike out the requirement for tests of the saccharine strength of sugars by use of the polariscope. After remarks by Mr. Sherman in opposition to and Messrs. Hale and Bryan in support of the motion the Senate, without disposing of the subject, adjourned.

House.

Mr. Payson of Illinois and Mr. Knott of Kentucky, presented the views of the minority of the Judiciary Committee upon the Northern Pacific land grant. Mr. Knott's report is accompanied by a joint resolution declaring forfeited, all lands granted that company, not patented to the company, the first of July 1882. After some discussion the views of the minority were ordered printed and laid on the table.

After consideration of some District of Columbia business the House adjourned.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Dog-days begin to-day.

The sloop yacht Violet, with a Boston party on board, is at Fort Point.

A telephone line will soon be constructed between Augusta and Waterville.

The extension of the wharf of the Dirigo Ice Company is now about completed.

A party of Belfast people are cruising in Penobscot Bay in the yacht Little Rogue.

Inspector General Lynch will inspect the military company at Oldtown this evening.

A new post office has been established at Sea Wall, three miles from South West Harbor.

Rev. S. J. Stewart will speak at the Unitarian church in Houlton on Sunday, August 13th.

Mr. E. T. Mealley, of this city, is the popular clerk at the Waverly House, Northport.

Mr. George Wing, formerly of this city and now of Fairbault, Minn., is visiting friends here.

Dr. R. J. Lemont, of South West Harbor, and formerly of this city, is in town for a few days.

Mr. Brackett, the racy editor of the Sea Breeze, has his Northport sanctum at Clearview Cottage.

The West Branch drive has left North Twin Lake, and is now supposed to be in the vicinity of Shad Pond.

A private party will make an excursion to Cape Rosier, on Wednesday, in the charming little steamer Florence.

Hon. L. A. Emery, of Ellsworth, arrived in the city last evening accompanied by his son, on their way to Calais and St. John.

An extra train of four cars was run over the Boston and Maine road Saturday night, to accommodate the crowds visiting Old Orchard.

The date of the State Muster, at Augusta, has been decided upon. It will commence Monday, August 21st, and continue six days.

Mr. M. G. Rice has recently harvested nearly ninety tons of hay on about fifty acres of land. It was all housed in prime condition.

Mr. Hamilton, the Portland sub-marine diver, is now engaged in examining the berth of the B. & B. S. S. Co.'s steamers, at Bangor.

Mrs. Lydia G. Snow has returned from the Micronesian Islands and arrived in Boston the 19th inst. Her impaired health compelled her return.

The Arctic Ice Company are building a new wharf in front of their large ice house below the city. The wharf will have a frontage of three hundred feet.

A party from Bangor and Dexter leave next week for Moosehead Lake, whence they will make a journey in canoes down the West Branch of the Penobscot.

The steamer Ralph Ross, or the Howell, will leave, this morning and also to-morrow morning at 8 o'clock for Northport, touching at all the landings and return in the afternoon.

Robert Ash, of Greenbush, who received a wound in the arm, during the rebellion, never fully recovered from its effects, and yesterday an Oldtown physician amputated the arm at the shoulder.

The first number of volume four of the Sea Breeze has put in an appearance from Northport, and is a welcome visitor from this beautiful seaside city. The Sea Breeze is even more interesting reading than in past seasons.

Yesterday surpassed all other days we have had thus far this season in the intensity of the heat and general uncomfortableness of the weather. During the day the thermometer ranged in the shade from 94 degrees to nearly 100.

The Portland Company have just completed five patent, screw lever dump cars for the Maine Central Railroad. Each car has a capacity of twenty-five tons. They also have a fine new locomotive nearly ready for delivery to the road.

The hay crop on the Maine Insane Hospital farm this season is very large. Some 250 tons have been secured in first-class condition and if the weather holds good for about two days longer the entire crop amounting to nearly 300 tons will be under cover.

Y. M. C. A. A young men's social prayer and praise meeting will be held at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association this evening, commencing at 8 and closing promptly at 9 o'clock. All young men are cordially invited to be present.

Jerry Corson indulged too heavily and had a lively racket, early last evening at his house on Willow street. The neighbors were aroused by the disturbance and many assembled in the vicinity. Corson was arrested and transported to the police station where he was placed in a cell.

A second edition of Mr. T. Sedgwick Steele's "Paddle and Portage" has just been issued by Estes & Lauriat of Boston. The work has received very high compliments in the literary departments of the New York Tribune and the Boston Transcript. Mr. Steele has had a very pleasant trip this summer to the Moosehead lake region.

FROM BELFAST AND NORTHPORT TO BAR HARBOR. The steamer Queen City will make an excursion next Friday from Belfast and Northport to Bar Harbor, leaving Belfast at 7 A. M., Northport at 7:30 A. M., and arriving at Bar Harbor at 12 M. The steamer will leave Bar Harbor at 5 P. M., returning to Northport and Belfast by moonlight. The fare will be $1.00.

A DESERVING CASE. Our Dexter correspondent calls attention to the case of Daniel Weld, of Abbott, who, a few years ago, voluntarily surrendered his pension because he believed he had recovered from his injury, but who has since died and left a nearly destitute family. Certainly it would be a great hardship for his family to suffer on account of his exceptional conscientiousness which led him to give up his pension under a mistaken belief in his recovery. If friends in the community will have the proper application made out for a pension for the widow, and send the papers to this office, we will see that they are brought promptly to the attention of the proper authorities at Washington.

UNIVERSALIST EXCURSION. The Universalists had a delightful excursion down river yesterday on the steamer Queen City. A pleasant party participated in the trip and the weather was very auspicious for the occasion. After a stop of an hour at Sandy Point the steamer proceeded to Fort Point and then continued down the western bay, down around Long and Mark Islands and thence up the eastern bay. A stop of an hour was made at Islesboro and the Queen City then started for Bangor, the party arriving home about nine o'clock. The Matrons and nine children of the Childrens' Home participated in the excursion through the courtesy of the officers of the line.

A. O. U. W. A meeting of Anchor Lodge, No. 4, A. O. U. W., will be held this evening at their hall. Mr. C. C. Dean, District Deputy Grand Master, will be tendered a reception, during which he will give an address on the aim of the order. A very pleasant occasion is anticipated.

NORTHPORT BREEZES. The Sea Breeze has the following personals: H. H. Andrews and wife of Bangor are on Bay View Square. Misses May and Laura Coombs and Hattie Pearson are summering here. Misses Lizzie M. Carrier and M. A. Reynolds, of Bangor, and Mrs. A. L. Wood, of Washington, D. C., are at Norparell cottage on the shore, for the season. Miss N. Holt, of Bangor and a bevy of lady friends are spending a short season at Good Times cottage on Broadway. The Rockport society cottage is occupied for a time by Rev. W. F. Chase, and family, of Rockport. Rev. C. E. Libby, of Belfast, has moved his invalid wife to a cottage near Meritbew Square. Mrs. W. K. Lancey, of Pittsfield, is a guest of Mrs. Rice, on Clinton street. R. A. Rich and family, of Winterport are stopping for the season in their cottage. Mr. E. L. Lovell and family, of Dexter, have been occupying Bay View cottage on Griffin street for a couple of weeks. A company of Belfast and Camden girls have been lasticating in Leaside cottage for a week.

LETTER FROM DEXTER.

A Case for the Consideration of the Pension Department.—About Future Meetings of the Maine Dental Association.—Personal References.—Various Items of Local Interest.

DEXTER, July 24.

To the Editor of the Whig & Courier:

Several years ago, one Daniel Weld, of Abbott, who served his country in the war of the Rebellion, and afterwards received a pension on account of injuries to health, wrote to the authorities at Washington that he thought he had fully recovered his health, and therefore desired that his name might be removed from the pension list. This was the first case of the kind ever known in the Department, and it was at the time noted and commented upon by the press of the whole country. A few weeks since this Mr. Weld died at his home in Abbott and his family are left in destitute circumstances. It is said that the trouble contracted in the army, and from which deceased supposed he had recovered, afterwards returned, but whether this be so or not, your correspondent does not know. The question arises, whether, under the circumstances, it would not be the proper thing for the authorities at Washington to place the widow of the late Mr. Weld upon the pension list, where doubtless it would now be, had he not voluntarily surrendered his claim. The amount, small though it be, would be of great service to her now, and it really seems as if it would not require a more liberal construction of the case on the part of the Government to do this, than it has placed upon many other cases that have come before it.

FUTURE SESSIONS OF THE M. D. A.

The next annual session of the Maine Dental Association will be held in Portland. The matter of settling upon some locality as the regular place of meeting was considered, and the advantage of such a course generally admitted. Several cities were mentioned in this connection, but the majority of those in attendance was apparently for Portland. The question was left open, however, with the understanding that it should be finally decided at the next session. Of the one hundred and fifty dentists, more or less, in the State, it is seldom that more than 25 attend the sessions of the Association. It is thought that with the place of meeting at Portland, and the time when most people wish to go somewhere, they may hereafter get out a good crowd. At the recent session here, many interesting and valuable papers on subjects of importance to the profession were read.

PERSONAL.

Miss Cora Goff, has returned to Fitchburg, where she is soprano in one of the leading choirs of that city. She was formerly a pupil of Mrs. W. F. Shaw, of Bangor, and has since been under the instruction of Mr. Hodedon, in Boston. Her many friends here note with pleasure a marked improvement in her singing, and think that her prospects for the future are flattering. Miss Goff is a daughter of Mr. Geo. W. Goff, the well known and popular express messenger who has run for many years between this place and Bangor.

Mrs. Morrill Sprague left here last Saturday evening for Joliet, Ill., whither she was summoned by telegraph on account of the serious illness of her mother and sister. It is thought that the former can survive but a few days.

George Hamilton, Esq., Treasurer of the Dexter Savings Bank, recently returned from a western trip, which he undertook for rest and recreation. He was unfortunate, however, in that he was sick about all the time that he was absent. It would seem that the western climate does not agree with him, as he is now quite well, and may be seen upon the streets about every fair day.

VARIOUS MATTERS.

The Maine Register for 1882 has been delivered to the subscribers about here. This book is regarded by many as a regular and indispensible article of furniture.

Fishermen don't enthuse much over the black bass with which Dexter Pond (or Silver Lake, as some like to call it) has been stocked. There are plenty of the fish, but it is said that they have a peculiar way of taking a bait into their mouths, chewing it awhile, and then spitting it out.

The blacksmith shop which has been run in this place, near the depot, for several years, by Mr. R. H. Dyer, has been leased by Deesser & Co., by whom the business will hereafter be carried on. They are hard workers, and deserve success.

A granite crossing has been put over Main street, near Dustin & Co.'s, which is an improvement long since called for by the needs of the public. If few more should be laid at different points, then about 25 street lamps, discreetly located, would supply another want that is sadly noticeable here. It is to be hoped that this matter may not much longer be put off. The town is out of debt, and can afford to have some of the embellishments in which live villages in other parts of the country indulge.

The light from the great fire at Fairfield was plainly visible here last Friday night, though between thirty and forty miles distant.

Police Court.

Leonard McCoy, of Bangor, for drunkenness, was yesterday fined $3 and costs. Paid.

Wm. Bradford, of Carmel, for same offence, was fined $5 and costs. Paid.

John McDonald, of Bangor, for same offence, was fined $5 and costs.

Joseph McGraw, of Bangor, for same offence, was fined $5 and costs.

Richard Donovan, of Woodstock, N. B., for same offence, was fined $5 and costs.

Joseph Eslabrook, of Bangor, for same offence, was sentenced to jail for 90 days.

THE HANDEL EXCURSION.

A FINE TRIP.

For some years the Handel Association has enjoyed the reputation of arranging the best excursions of the season, and their last effort was in perfect accord with those that have preceded it, as the trip yesterday was admirably conducted, every attention being paid to even the most minor details and every one returned home well satisfied that the management had done all in their power to make the day one of marked enjoyment. The weather was so intensely hot that it proved a drawback even down river—it being reported the warmest day that has been known at Fort Point for three years—but nearly everyone seemed to be in excellent spirits and congratulated themselves that if they were somewhat warm on the steamer they were much more comfortable than they would have been at home.

The party, which numbered about seven hundred persons, left the city at eight o'clock on the good old steamer Katahdin, and sailed down the Penobscot with colors flying, handkerchiefs waving and band playing. The first stop was at Winterport where a few excursionists came aboard, and then on to Bucksport, where the party was increased by quite a number of the residents of that beautiful town. After touching at Fort Point, the next stop was made at Camden, where a portion of the excursionists went ashore to pass the day at this popular resort where some Bangorenns are located for the summer, while the balance of the party went on to Rockport the objective point, where they arrived at about one o'clock.

The sun was beating down with that degree of earnestness that caused the enthusiasm of many of those who had planned to do the town to diminish very perceptibly, but a few of the more venturesome ones went ashore and passed an hour or two in looking about this thriving place which contains some handsome residences. At three o'clock all were on board again (excepting one party that was left behind and had to drive to Camden where they joined the boat,) and the return trip began. The time was most agreeably passed in listening to the Astrella Quartette, which rendered some fine selections, that were interspersed with some vocal selections and whistling solos, and selections from the Bangor Band which was a pleasant feature of the day. At Fort Point the boat stopped for an hour, thus affording the excursionists ample opportunity to visit the handsome hotel and wander through the spacious grounds of this deservedly popular resort and many of the party took tea at the hotel.

On arriving at Bucksport those who desired to trip the light fantastic disembarked and went up to Emery Hall where the Astrella Quartette furnished music for the dancing. The sail up the river from Bucksport was delightful, the soft light of the moon producing a most charming effect, as it was reflected in the placid waters of old Penobscot. The boat arrived at her wharf, in this city, at about the hour advertised.

Before closing this hurriedly written notice we wish to say a word concerning the excellent order that was maintained throughout the entire day. Although the party was large everyone conducted themselves in a most becoming manner and nothing of a disorderly nature occurred to mar the occasion. The gentlemanly officers of the Katahdin contributed their full share to the enjoyment of the trip by their unremitting attentions throughout the day, and ably maintained the well merited reputation the officers of the Boston & Bangor Line have ever enjoyed for the courteous treatment of all persons who travel by this line either on these special trips or on the regular run between this city and Boston.

THE FAIRFIELD CONFLAGRATION.

A Serious Blow to the Town—Detailed Statement of Losses and Insurance—Rebuilding to Commence at Once.

The conflagration at Fairfield on Friday night was most disastrous and the town has suffered deep affliction. The first reports were in no way exaggerated.

The fire when first discovered, was in about the centre of the long saw mill, in either that of Messrs. Doren Brothers or of S. A. Nye's. Within an incredibly short space of time the entire mill was in ruins, while the labors of the assembled crowds were directed to staying its progress towards the business part of the town. The shed back of N. Totman & Co.'s mill was the point to be guarded, and there the brave fellows stood and fought until the worst was over. Several buildings on Main street were badly scorched, but the fire was stayed in this direction. Had a steamer been at command or had the Waterville engine not so long delayed in getting away from the station, the shops and manufactories south of the saw mill could have been saved.

The first to take fire was the one owned and occupied by the Maine Manufacturing Co., and C. D. Lawrence. Connected with this were the shops of the Fairfield Furniture Co., York & Fairbrother, and J. A. and E. A. Cilley, while across the street were a number of dwellings huddled closely together. All of these quickly became food for the flames, and then the struggle commenced to save the lumber yards. Had the fire crossed these, the entire length of Main street would have been at the mercy of the flames. Hard work again brought victory, and the fire was stayed.

For five long hours willing hands worked at the brakes, or brought the pails, to aid in quenching the fire fiend, and with cheers the arrival of the steamer from Augusta was greeted by the tired men.

A visit to the different firms confirms the statement that the loss will not much exceed $100,000, though coming close up to those figures. It is distributed as follows:

N. Totman & Son's, $25,000; no insurance.

A. H. & C. E. Duren, $25,000; no insurance.

S. A. Nye, $25,000; no insurance.

Maine Manufacturing Co., $9,000; insured for $2,200.

C. D. Lawrence, $3,000; no insurance.

Fairfield Furniture Co., $10,000; insured $2,500.

York & Fairbrother, framing mill, $6,000; no insurance.

A. J. Smith, box factory, $1,000; no insurance.

J. A. Cilley & Co., furniture, $5,000; insured for $3,000.

Five dwelling houses, $5,000; no insurance.

There is also a loss of a thousand dollars worth of sawed lumber. The loss falls heavily upon some of these firms, and must severely cripple them. With characteristic spirit the different firms have met this afternoon and decided to proceed at once to build a dam to keep the water from the foundations, and the mills and shops will, hearty all, be speedily rebuilt. It may be that one or two grand mill privilege may be for sale, and if so, they will offer attractions to any one wanting a first-class water power for mill or factory. The dam will be built by Mr. Emery, of Waterville, the veteran builder, who is already on the ground.

Dependent as all the people of Fairfield are upon the lumbering interests, everything is at a standstill and will be for some time. To-day the saws of one mill only are heard in the village, where usually their music is heard in so many directions. The cause of the fire was without doubt a hot box.

Mr. John L. Stoddard is passing the summer months at Gilmanton, N. H. He is much improved in health since his return from Europe, and is now busily employed in writing lectures.

A Temperance Pioneer in a Maine Prison.

Capt. J. Zonarki, who is now confined in York County jail, at Alfred, on a charge of breaking and entering the store of P. H. Ricker, of Wells, and stealing a pair of boots therefrom, a short time since, is now over 91 years of age, and has a remarkable history.

He was born at Warsaw, Poland, July 4, 1791 and is the son of a Polish Count. He entered the military school in Paris at the early age of fifteen, and remained there six years. He then joined the army of Napoleon and continued with that wonderful commander until his banishment to St. Helena. He took part in the famous march from Paris to Moscow in 1812, was in the disastrous battle of Leipsic in 1813, at the capitulation of Paris in 1814, accompanied Napoleon to the Isle of Elba as a member of his body guard, and took part in the ever memorable battle of Waterloo in 1815. He afterwards returned to Poland and fought in the Polish Revolution in 1831, in favor of Polish independence. When the Poles were overcome by the Russians his property was all confiscated, and he was obliged to flee, to avoid being banished to Siberia, where his father and many of his relatives had already been sent.

In subsequent years he served under Louis Kossuth, in the Hungarian Revolution, and in 1849, with Kossuth and others, was banished to Asiatic Turkey, where he remained until September 1, 1851, when he embarked with Kossuth and his party on the war steamer, Mississippi, which had been dispatched by the United States Government to bring them to America, and arrived in New York on the 5th day of December following. He served as drill master at West Point until the breaking out of the rebellion. In 1861, he enlisted and served as captain in the 101st Pennsylvania regiment, and engaged in many of the memorable battles of that civil and bloody conflict, under General Franz Seiger, for four years. At the close of the war he had eight hundred dollars.

After traveling about for some time to see the country, he went to San Francisco and was appointed upon the police force, where he served for six years and nine months. While upon the police force at the age of eighty-six, attempting to arrest two Baltimore rougbs whom he detected in the act of burglarizing a large jewelry store in that city, the burglars resisting him, he instantly shot them both dead upon the spot, and found a large amount of stolen property in their possession. For this act of bravery he received the almost unbounded praise of his superiors in office, in thus ridding the city of two of its most lawless desperadoes, for whose capture, dead or alive, a large reward had been offered.

Since leaving San Francisco he has spent his summers traveling about the country, mostly on foot, stopping during the winter at the Soldiers' Home in Washington. When arrested, he was on his way to Montreal, where he has friends whom he expected would assist him in getting to Paris, where his two sons are now residing. He stoutly denies the crime with which he is charged, and from the fair and open account he gives of the manner by which he came in possession of the property, alleged to have been stolen, it seems fair to presume that he is innocent of the charge preferred against him.

His trial will be had at the September term of Court holden at Alfred, and his defense will be conducted by a lawyer who gratuitously gives his services as an act of respect and veneration for this aged veteran.—Union and Journal.

FROM CALAIS.

The Sinking of the Schooner Abigail—Revival of the Proposition to Build a Soldiers' Monument—Other Matters.

[From our regular correspondent.]

CALAIS, July 24th, 1882.

Paine Bros. of Eastport, owners of the schooner Abigail, received a telegram Saturday noon from Captain Malloch, dated Annapolis, N. S., saying the schooner foundered in the bay of Fundy, Friday night, a new sails. It is reported the schooner was in Digby, N. S., a few days ago and that the vessel's cargo was being sold there. Under these circumstances it is thought the captain will have difficulty in convincing the owners, that the vessel's loss resulted from natural causes. The Abigail was valued at $2,000 and was uninsured.

The great interest in the Soldiers' re-union, to be held in Calais, August 16th and 17th, has produced one excellent result, viz: the revival of the movement for the erection of a soldiers' monument in this city. Fifteen years ago a fund was started for this purpose, but, for reasons that are unaccountable, the project passed from public attention and the money then raised has since been lying at interest. It is now proposed that the expense and design for a monument shall be decided upon, and that the balance of the fund required to meet it shall be raised by subscription, to be opened at the time of the re-union. It is regarded as especially fitting that our citizens shall, in the presence of the veterans assembled here next month, pledge a lasting and tangible memorial to their dead comrades. Prominent citizens have already volunteered to contribute generously to the noble object, and confidence is felt that a fund will be raised, large enough to render the Soldiers' monument in Calais one of the most substantial and finely decorated in the State.

A large lot of steel rails have been received by the St. Croix & Penobscot Railway. They will shortly be laid between the depot at Calais and the St. Croix cotton mill at Salmon Falls.

SUMMERERS IN THE HOT CLIMATES. While some seek the mountains, and others the sea shore, business and duty call others on sea voyages in tropical latitudes. This is a little risky, for the dangers of sunstroke and severe bowel diseases must be encountered. Yet if the voyager is supplied with Perry Davis's Pain Killer, all may be well. Captain Jordan, of Charleston, Master of the bark Flor del Mar, was prostrated with severe heat and colic in Cienfuegos, Cuba. For three hours he was in the utmost agony, expecting to die. During that time he took a bottle and a half of "Pain Killer." It did its work bravely. The captain was restored to health, and was soon able to be on duty. He says that every vessel going to sea ought to have a supply of "Pain Killer."

Boothbay is to have another band. Sixteen young men have clubbed together and are now rehearsing twice, weekly. They have chosen Mr. R. G. Ingraham as their leader. Mr. Ingraham is the only old player in the band.

A diabolical attempt was made, recently, to poison the family of Rachel Jackson, of Jefferson, by throwing Paris green into the spring from which the family procure their water. Their cow drank from the spring the next morning, and died in a short time, which led to the discovery of the poison. Their house was burnt about a year ago, which was thought to have been incendiary. It is sincerely hoped that the perpetrator of this deed will be discovered, and made to suffer the full penalty for the crime.—Village Herald.

Oxford.

On Monday last, at the Hiram terminus of the Bridgton railroad, Engineer Stephenson threw up the first shovelful of dirt, and J. A. Bennett, chairman of the Bridgton selectmen, the second shovelful. There are to be some six stations—one at the terminus at Hiram, one at Rankin's mills, one at Perley & Berry's mills, another at the Denmark road, the next at Sandy Creek, and the sixth at Bridgton Centre.

MALT BEER

EXTRACT.

This Extract makes one of the most delicious summer drinks in use. It is refreshing and cooling to the blood after over-work; stimulating the digestive organs, increasing the appetite, and it is used extensively on the tables, instead of hot tea and coffee, which are expensive, and injurious to the blood. It is Nature's own stimulant in the hay field; every farmer should have it, as the men can do more work by using the beverage, for the reason that they do not have to use as much to quench their thirst, as of other drinks, nor does it make them have a languid feeling. It is easily prepared.

REED ORGAN MUSIC

The Emerson New Method for Reed Organs ($2.50) is one of the newer methods, and has a fine "method," by two well known writers, (Emerson and Mathews), and has a goodly quantity of very pleasing music, instrumental and vocal.

Clark's Harmonic School for the Organ ($3.00), is for Church Organs, either Reed or Pipe, and is an admirable school for voluntary playing.

Clarke's Reed Organ Melodies ($2.00) consists of the best arranged and interesting collections ever put together.

The Organ at Home ($2.00) has about 200 easy Reed Organ pieces. A well known and popular book.

Clark's Dollar Instructor for Reed Organs includes all the good music and instruction that can be placed in a "dollar" book.

Winner's New School for Cabinet Organ ($2.50), is one of his series of very convenient cheap instructors for all instruments. They are only for beginners and amateurs.

Johnson's Parlor Organ Instruction Book ($1.50), is highly approved, all teaching in a simple manner for the playing of Sunday-school, School and Church music, on the Reed Organ.

Any book mailed for the price above mentioned.

The Phosphates of the Wheat are of the most valuable food property, and are, when properly prepared, the most odoriferous nutriment with which to build up the system.

The Blood, Brain and Nerves are the forces which bear the strain of every day work and life, and in order to strengthen these it is wise to HELP IT WITH WHEAT.

Wheat Bitters are prepared, not by fermentation, but by solution and are richest in the phosphates, while the starch and indigestive matter are eliminated. Thus make in themselves a table, to which is added the best and choicest medicinal qualities, necessary to make it a tonic and bitter. It is at once healthful, pleasant to the taste and must not to be compared with the thousand and one cheap Alcoholic bitters which are sold as cure-alls. Medicine is doubly effective when used with food, so as to go with it everywhere.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers learn the numbers daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in accordance with printed bills.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8 P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to prepare Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

Fluted lined envelopes of colour furnished at $2.20 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.

Stamped Envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.

DOMESTIC POSTAGE.

First Class.

All Letters must be Prepaid.—Letters for the Mails in the United States, three cents the half ounce or single rate. City letters, two cents the half ounce or single rate.

SECOND CLASS.

Newspapers.

All regular newspapers must be prepaid at the office of publication, at the rate of two cents per pound for each issue. The same law applies to periodicals.

County papers free; except to letter carrier offices, i. e. papers coming to this office, if published in County, are subject to postage. Daily papers published in County, if delivered by carrier, one cent each, to be prepaid by stamps.

FOURTH CLASS.

Postage One Cent for each Ounce.

Blank cards, card board and other flexible material, flexible patterns, letter envelopes and letter paper without printing thereon, merchandise, models, ornamented paper, sample cards, samples of ores, metals, metals, seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions, drawings, plans, designs, ornamental paintings in oil or water colors and any other matter not included in first, second or third classes, and which is not in its form or nature liable to destroy, deface or otherwise damage the contents of the mail bag or harm the person of any one engaged in the postal service.

Upon mailable third or fourth class the sender may write his own name or address with the word "from," without extra charge for postage.

Third and fourth class matter may be registered same as first class, by payment of the register fee of 10 cents.

ADVERTISED LETTERS.

All letters remaining in the office are advertised on Monday of each week. If not claimed in ONE MONTH thereafter, they are then forwarded to the Dead Letter office.

MONEY ORDERS.

Especial attention is called to the Money Order system, as a safe and cheap method of transmitting small sums through the mails. Orders are issued in sums of not more than fifty dollars. Larger amounts can be transmitted to the same person, at the same time, by additional orders.

RATES.

On orders not exceeding $15,	10 cents

MR. WM. WESTFALL,

Of Duchess Co., N. Y., 80 Years of Age, Suffered Continually for Many Years from Stone in the Bladder.

Great age and painful disease are a sad combination. Yet Mr. William Westfall, formerly of Washington Hollow, N. Y., now of Washington Hollow, in the same county, came to the office of Dr. David Kennedy, the eminent Physician and Surgeon of Rondout, N. Y., some time since, in a condition to excite the sympathy of the most cold-blooded and hard-hearted person in the world. We say he came—he was, rather, carried to the Doctor's office, for he was totally helpless, and bore the weight of 70 years besides. He had suffered long from Retention of Urine, and had all the symptoms of an aggravated case of calculus or stone in the bladder. The usual instrumental examination revealed the presence in the bladder of a urinary calculus of uncommon size. Dr. Kennedy frankly told Mr. Westfall, owing to his age and debility, an operation was out of the question, but that he could, by the prescription of "Kennedy's Favorite Remedy," together with fomentations, make him comfortable and leave him to live out all his days. The outcome of this was that the patient enjoys good health to this day.

The Reason Why

Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is being extensively used by our people as follows: It is a combination of vegetable alteratives. It is pleasant to the taste, adapted to both sexes and all ages, is effective in affording immediate relief in all cases of Kidney troubles, Liver Complaints, Constipation of the Bowels and derangements peculiar to women. At the same time purifies the blood, thus giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease or age. "Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy" for sale by all druggists.

From Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper.

A LADY SAID

"Those Horrid Pimples! No, I Cannot Go. Please Present My Excuses."

Probably two-thirds of the ladies in society and homes of our land are afflicted with skin diseases of various kinds, to do away with which, if it could be done without injury, would be the happiest event of their lives. Then she would have no head of a disfigured and marred countenance, one that would be handsome, or at least good-looking, for any one with a clear, pure skin, no matter what the cut of her features are, has a certain amount of good looks which attract everybody. As it is now, she imagines every one sees and talks about "those freckles," those horrid pimples," and other blemishes with which she is afflicted, and this is true of either sex.

To improve this appearance great risks are taken; arsenic, mercury, or high-sound titled named articles containing these death-dealing drugs, are taken in hopes of getting rid of all these troubles. In many cases, death is the result. No alleviation of the burning, heating, itching and inflammation is given. All troubled with Eczema (salt rheum), Tetters, Humors, Inflammation, Rough Scaly Eruptions of any kind, Diseases of the Hair and Scalp, Scrofula, Ulcers, Pimples or Tender Itchings on any part of the body, should know that there is hope for them in a sure, perfect and elegant remedy, known as "Dr. C. W. Benson's Skin Cure." It makes the skin white, soft and smooth, removes tan and freckles, and is the best toilet dressing in the world. This elegantly put up two bottles in one package, consisting of both internal and external treatment.
